

© Department of Livestock Development, Thailand
Issued June 2012

Preferred citation

Department of Livestock Development. 2012. Animal Health in Thailand 2011, Bangkok, Thailand.

Acknowledgements

The Animal Health in Thailand 2011 compiles information provided by the Royal Thai Government's Department of Livestock Development, other government agencies, and livestock industries. The Department of Livestock Development maintains its high quality and standard of animal health and veterinary public health controls through cooperative and consultative approaches and partnerships among the livestock industries, all levels of government agencies, and other stakeholders. Also the Department of Livestock Development is responsible for production and dissemination of the report for the Thai Chief Veterinary Officer (CVO) and shares information to all other stakeholders.

The Department of Livestock Development would like to acknowledge the meticulous efforts of all contributors in preparation of this report including the Editorial Committee of the Animal Health in Thailand, 2011. This project will never be successful without support and coordination of all level of DLD staff and other agencies.

Disclaimer

This report is published by the Department of Livestock Development for information purpose only. Information contained in this report is compiled from various sources and some information obtained from external sources to Department of Livestock Development. Although its preparation was undertaken carefully and reasonably, Department of Livestock Development does not guarantee and warrant the accuracy, reliability, completeness, or currency of the information.

Feedback

Feedback, comments, and suggestions regarding the Animal Health in Thailand 2011 are welcomed. Comments may be sent via e-mail to: dldforeign@dld.go.th

Contact Details

Department of Livestock Development
69/1 Phaya Thai Road, Ratchathewe
Bangkok 10400
Thailand
Tel: (66) 2 653 4444
<http://www.dld.go.th>